INTORUDUCTION:The results of the analysis of the processes taking place in the world economy show that it shows that the liberalization of foreign trade is the main one of the development of world economy becoming one of the trends. Customs duties in all countries there is a decline, the abolition of many types of restrictions. Many countries are secretly protectionist (protecting the state's own domestic market policy) are also making extensive use of measures.

Such measures include dotations to the types of national production issuance, subsidization of exports, introduction of various norms and standards, as well as others can be entered. Free trade and protectionism in the world economy in resolving the conflicts that arise between, the management of international trade, International in the elimination and liberalization of barriers to its development economic organizations, in particular the World Trade Organization (WTO), occupy an important place.

President of the Republic of Uzbekistan on February 7, 2017 On the strategy of Action for the further development of the Republic" Decree No. 4947 of PF-2017-2021 of the Republic of Uzbekistan action strategy in five development priorities approved. Paragraph 3.1 of this strategy defines macroeconomic stability as in order to further strengthen and maintain high economic growth rates further development of international economic cooperation, including leading international and expansion of relations with foreign financial institutions, a well-thought-out external continuing to implement debt policy, foreign investment involved and it was established that loans should be used effectively.

Cabinet of Ministers of the Republic of Uzbekistan dated December 24, 2018 "The composition of the interagency Commission for work with the World Trade Organization on approval " Decision No. 1040 of the Republic of Uzbekistan World effective organization of the work of the preparatory stage of the process of entry into the Trade Organization World Trade in order to ensure compliance and coordination on a systematic basis Interagency Commission on work with the organization approved.

This is the importance of the World Trade Organization for countries and World Trade it has been studied to a considerable extent by now. This is due to the fact that this organization was founded in 1994 although founded, it was an early form of GATT founded in 1947 found. For this reason, many scientific observations have been carried out by scientists.

In particular, from our local scientists G.Yuldasheva, M.X.Vokhidova; Sh.Khajibakiev also received from foreign scientists E. Petersmann, M. Herdegen, I.V.Scientific research was carried out by the zenkins.

Also, the specification of the topic in the research work is systematic-structural, it assumed to refer to methods of dialectical, logical, formal-legal, comparative-legal, historical-legal and comparative analysis.

General logical methods-induction, deduction, analysis, synthesis and special legal methods were applied. In the interpretation of scientific literature and norms of law a method of grammatical analysis was also used. In scientific observation in research, systematic and methods of economic-statistical analysis, comparison and grouping were used.

Membership in the JST is complex in nature and extends to all sectors of the economy affects and not only the country's foreign trade regime (customs rates, technical regulation, sanitary and phytosanitary measures, etc.), village agriculture (state support of agriculture), economy, price regulation, etc.), intellectual property, services (foreign services of companies), state orders, the economy by the state it also makes changes to regulation and others.

The international community, including the main trading partners of our country, Supports more open accession of Uzbekistan to World Trade and Provides comprehensive assistance to Uzbekistan's JST membership process. In particular, the European Union is a member of the World Trade Organization (WTO) of Uzbekistan provided a grant of € 5 million to fund the partition process. The agreement between the parties was signed in Brussels on November 11, 2019 and the world in the process of becoming a member of a trade organization, including the necessary documents in preparation, according to the WTO contracts of specialists from Uzbekistan provides for the provision of assistance to Uzbekistan in improving its knowledge.

The accession of countries to the JST is the economic development in these states and serve as the main factor in the elimination of the monopoly in the country is doing. Application for membership of the JST of the Republic of Uzbekistan although it has been more than 25 years since the submission, still this process continues. Looking back on history, it is important to see other countries join the JST 4-15 years. Therefore, Uzbekistan is a member of this country identify problems that are preventing them from happening and eliminate them specific measures should be developed on the implementation.

As a result of Uzbekistan's membership in this organization, Uzbekistan systematic analysis of expected changes in lawmaking as well as international norms unification with prevent conflicts that may arise in the future will and excess will limit your preoccupation. Membership in the JST results in the international legal situation of Uzbekistan changes as well as trade with other countries and other the expected changes in the relations of the kind to the current of Uzbekistan research into the extent to which impact is expected to prevent problems and is a guarantee of elimination.

CONCLUSION: In conclusion, it should be noted that Uzbekistan to the World Trade Organization introduction to the modernization and competitiveness of the economy more opportunities for the development of market reforms aimed at increasing and is incentive. At the same time, these reforms included lowering import duties, foreign equal competition of the domestic market for El goods with domestic production and continue to liberalize its trade through multilateral trade negotiations includes commitment to sustain. For this reason, domestic manufacturers have strengthen their potential and increase their competitiveness indicators necessary.

It was squeezed out of the domestic market due to the adoption of their foreign products is not to let it come out. Also, only in this case the trade restrictions the reduction will undoubtedly increase business activity, attract investment and helps the country join international value chains, which in the subsequent modernization and growth of economic indicators of the state manifest.
