SOCIAL-PEDAGOGICAL WAYS OF PREPARING VOCATIONAL SCHOOL STUDENTS FOR AN ADDITIONAL PROFESSION

Annatation

The article shows innovative solutions for preparing students for additional professions, and in this regard, the professions taught in today's vocational schools and the role of modern professions and trades in human life are described in detail. Key words: Intellectual, crafts, entrepreneurship, development strategy.

Intellectual youth is the future of our country. This sentence of our President Sh.M. Mirziyoev is showing its practical power throughout our republic. That is why, in order to make the country prosperous, it is the demand of our time to bring up young people, who are its foundations, while enjoying the masterpieces of conscious and mature thinking.

In our nation, the saying "forty skills for a young man" rings in our ears. That's why a lot of conditions are being created and measures are being taken for young people and their bright future or prospects on the scale of our country. In particular, various schools are being created for our young men in the field of crafts. Through this, the door of opportunities is opened for the mature generation to acquire additional professions in addition to the field of science. As we all know, no person or individual can ever achieve perfection. But no matter how much a person works on himself and takes himself to the level of development, he can undoubtedly realize the goals and dreams that he has set for himself. In our opinion, by creating craft schools throughout our country, we will keep young boys and girls busy with additional activities, and as a result, they will contribute not only to science, but also to our heavenly country through their professions. can bring their benefits. Moreover, in the process of employment, young people are under control and no foreign ideas, such as fanaticism, can be instilled in them. If such institutions are not created, the life paths of the youth who are the shield of our country may change radically. As a result, our young people can access various websites and absorb ideas that are foreign to our mentality. If such schools are created, new jobs will be created automatically. In this way, the lifestyle of citizens in our country will develop and prosper.

Creation of new entrepreneurial firms not only creates jobs in our nation, but also improves the development of our society. Today, in our country, it is customary to create and develop new business activities. Our state is creating a wide range of necessary and urgent support conditions for people engaged in entrepreneurial activities. For example, in different parts of our country, they take over the profession left by their ancestors, develop it, introduce jobs, and provide employment to many unemployed people. The activities of our entrepreneurs who have managed private entrepreneurship may not have a positive effect from the initial stage. Because entrepreneurship makes a lot of demands on the person engaged in it. Sometimes you have to take risks. Taking into account these aspects, both businessmen and capable personnel are needed to carry out such activities. Under the goal of guiding young people to additional professions as a result of studies, there are the tasks of raising the mature and advanced generation of our country, its future, living in this beautiful land. As the first President of our country, I.A. Karimov, said: Our children are more educated, wiser, smarter than us, and of course, they must be happy.

In the development strategy of the new Uzbekistan for 2022-2026, the task of vocational schools is to introduce a system that helps the 9th grade graduates of the school who want to learn a profession to acquire a profession by the state. The measures taken in order to ensure the execution of this task will help the students learn a specific profession and become a competitive staff with special qualifications. After all, the stability of the economy, the ability to compete with developed countries in all fields depends on the potential of personnel in the labor market. Such personnel are formed, first of all, at school.

In vocational guidance, it is important to determine the extent to which students' moral and moral qualities are compatible with the field they choose, and to strengthen the personal example and cooperation of science teachers, class leaders, parents and community activists in this regard. is enough.

Under this slogan, many institutions are being established throughout our country, which are the basis for the development of young people. In my opinion, I believe that innovations should be made not only in the field of crafts, but also in the field of sports. The reason is that only by educating the future generation with a healthy mind, a healthy spirit and a healthy mood, we will not face any obstacles and shortcomings in directing them to additional professions. After all, the future of our country is definitely in the hands of our brave boys and girls.
